

I am concerned about the risk of using potable water for small hydro facilities. Especially if the project is not designed prior to construction. Improper construction methods could put the entire system and the public at risk.

Dr. David Westerling, P.E.
Department of Civil Engineering
Merrimack College
meghnac@bu.edu